Dear Parents and Carers,

Another week passes and I hope I find you all well.

The secondary schools have been in touch with us recently and have started to ask for information regarding their Year 7 intake for September, new reception parents will also receive a welcome letter from us via the post over the next few days.

If you haven't had chance to look at 'google classroom' then please do ASAP. Staff have put in a great deal of effort into this resource and we'd really like you to access it on a regular basis. The tasks on it won't over awe you but they are intended to keep the children in touch with their learning during the shutdown.

REAL P.E.

Miss Crockett highly recommends this website that we already use with the children in school. It has great daily physical activities and is well worth a daily visit. We are already subscribed and here are our details –

MUSIC AT HOME

Mrs Burkill has found these great links to get the inner musician in you going!

Beat Goes On 'Body Beats' Live 'Body Beats' body percussion sessions, delivered daily at 11am on YouTube by Ollie Tunmer, former STOMP cast member and qualified teacher <https://www.youtube.com/user/OllieTunmer>

Chrome Music Lab makes learning music more accessible through fun, hands-on experiments. You can play with these experiments across devices – phones, tablets, laptops <https://musiclab.chromeexperiments.com/>

Bring the Noise is a BBC educational campaign to help primary school teachers and parents inspire children to become musicians and see the joys of music-making <https://www.bbc.co.uk/teach/bring-the-noise/evfs-ks1-music-play-it-bring-the-noise/z4sq92p>

THINGS I HAVE DISCOVERED THIS WEEK.....

- My daughter has a serious phobia with snakes or anything snake like. Yesterday I presented her with a slow worm I found in the garden which didn't go down well!
- Traffic levels at present are the same levels as those in the 1950s
- Jelly fish have returned to the canals of Venice
- My neighbour has run out of DIY jobs to do
- Hiccups can last on and off for days!

ONE TO WATCH THIS WEEK

The amazing British artist Grayson Perry has a really interesting programme on Channel 4 starting this Monday night at 8pm. 'Grayson's Art Club' promises to help "battle the boredom" and take viewers "on a journey of art discovery" with a six-part series of themed shows where the British public is encouraged to create their own work.

I wish everyone a restful, pleasant weekend and stay safe.

Best wishes,

Nic George
